Through the years

as the subjects of Mary

"And He went down with them to Nazareth and was subject to them . . ." As we read these words, we picture Jesus in humble submission to Mary. During the formative years of our lives it would be well for us often to recall the boyhood of Christ. Despite the fact that He is God, He was, nevertheless, subject to His Mother, Mary, in all things. She performed gently the loving acts of a Mother – caring for His physical comfort, guiding His education. He, the God of the Universe, humbly obeyed, and, in turn, eagerly served His Mother. We, the students of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, should therefore take from the life of Christ a lesson of dependence upon Mary; not only now – for this week, this month, or this year – but for our entire lives.

Frequent visits from members of the hierarchy, Bishop George L. Leech, Bishop Lawrence F. Schott, and Father Walter H. Shaull bring a feeling of warmth and importance to our school. Their kindness and thoughtfulness have enabled us to claim as our own the gift of a Catholic education. The modernized building and facilities of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, made possible by our most Reverend Bishops, their clergy, and our benefactors, permit our students to reach their intended goal – the completion of an education that will permeate our minds with Catholic principles and strong lasting ideals.

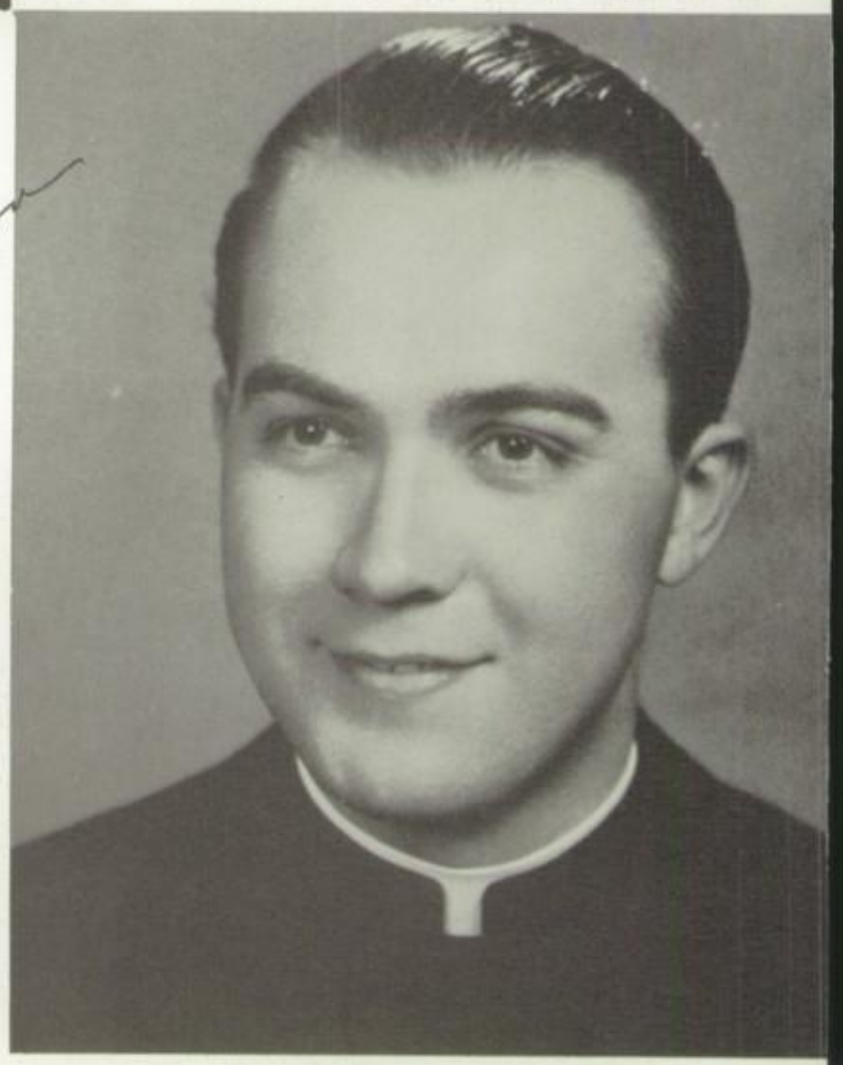
Best of Luck
Father Brown



"Woman, behold thy Son; Son, behold thy mother." With these words mankind became sons of the Mother of God. Like true sons, whose duty is to show others how to love our Mother and her Divine Son, our principal, Reverend Thomas A. Leitch, and his able assistant, Reverend Martin Brown, strive to lead the students to Mary, not only in studies, but also in the various activities of the school. Whether it be teaching a religion class or moderating a dance, these servants of Mary continue to seek new ways to bring us into a closer union with her. In this high school her presence is felt everywhere, because its leaders, Father Leitch and Father Brown, zealously serve her and her Son through their priestly functions. May Mary approvingly continue to guide them in their duties.

following Mary's example — RELIGIOUS FACULTY

Not always vocal, yet surely continual, is the expression of our deep gratitude to the devoted faculty of Our Lady of Lourdes. For, as we live the ideals they have taught us – facing the present and the future strengthened by the reality of God's Loving Providence – and as we utilize the knowledge these dedicated teachers have imparted in formal instruction, certainly our actions will speak the depth of our sentiment more adequately than a thousand "thank you's."

For their time given so generously after classes – in moderating activities, in helping us socially, and in motivating us to high standards – we could never say "thanks" sufficiently, but sincerely we pray, "God bless and love them always."

Every student at OLOL agrees that lunch time is the best period of the day! Our cafeteria staff, headed by Mrs. Aurelio Vivino, shows its ability to satisfy hungry students by providing delicious meals daily.

giving service to others—

With Mary as Queen of our high school, we, her subjects, willingly follow her direction. So each pupil, as a member of her domain, is ready and willing to learn the things best suited to his particular needs, to share in the purpose of education, and to take part in the social life of the school.

New beginnings lure freshmen. They now assume the obligations as well as the privileges of high school students.

Steady progress points the way for sophomores. Momentarily, they drift back to that memorable day when they were freshmen but most of their time is spent forming new ideals.

Juniors, having reached the halfway mark, advance toward the final step — the day when they will be seniors.

Fourth year students stand facing tomorrow. Relying on Our Lady of Lourdes' teaching, training, and example, they can become the victors of tomorrow's battles.

as the subjects of Mary

CLASSES

FRESHMAN . . . we take our primary step . . .

J. Surak and C. Scholtes hold a map of Pennsylvania illustrating the locations of small settlements made by the Indian and Amish settlers. P. Mowery and S. Boblick exhibit dolls dressed in Indian fashion while M. Slotorzynski and L. Tentromono appear amused by the early Amish customs.

With smiles on their faces, these first-year students received their initial taste of higher education. Changing classes, new subjects, and even the word "extra-curricular" applied to activities fascinated them.

A day of initiation assured our newest members of their acceptance by the senior class. With this security they heroically faced a world of fantastic enormity – cards with numbers and letters for direction; a new language, Latin; and the perplexing problems of x^3-x^2+5a.

Gradually the new became old and the strange, familiar as our freshmen accustomed themselves to the new routine, discovering here at OLOL a magnificent entryway to further knowledge and a wider path to understanding their never-ending faith.

Freshmen students of Sister Anselm take time out from their Religion class to view the bulletin board which is not only ingeniously planned but presents to each student food for thought.

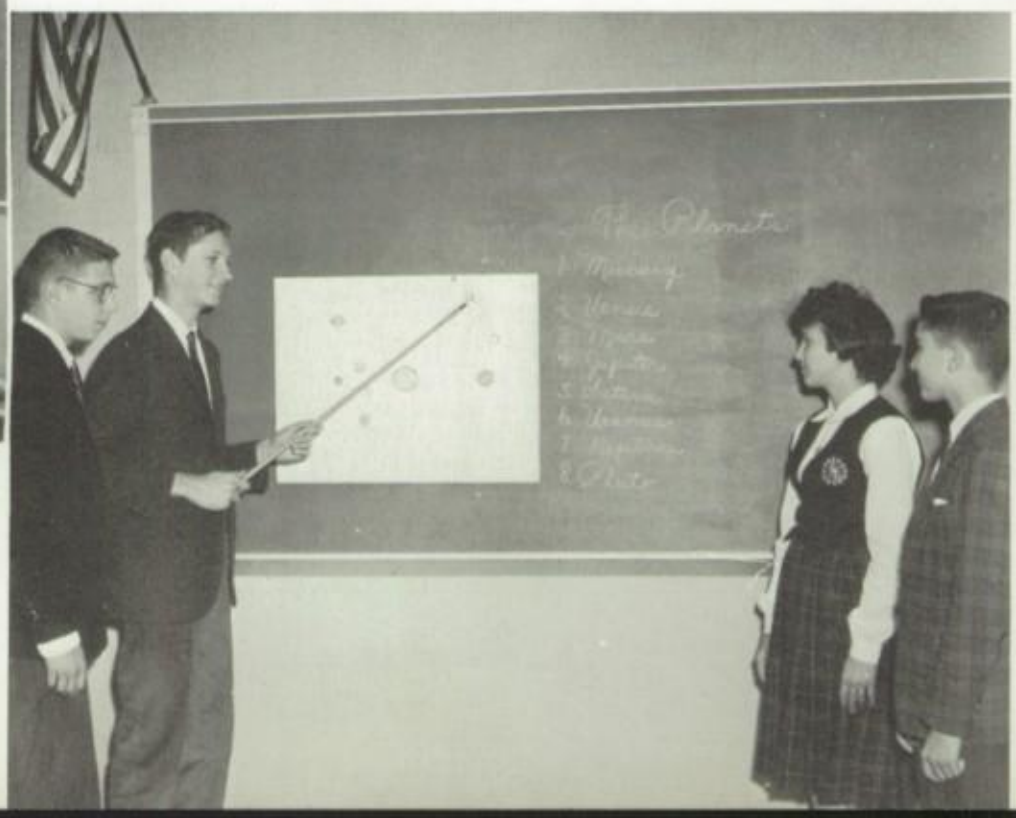
First Row: S. Moyer, D. Shultz, R. Pisani, L. Sieklicki, R. Rosini, M. Polyniak, J. Scandle, J. Shriver, Second Row: D. Richie, D. Richie, C. Nezerski, L. Procopio, J. Rohrer, M. Morris, D. Rovito, P. Mowery, A. Murdock, J. Owen, B. Rosini, P. O'Brien, F. Rovito. Third Row: R. Rosini, P. Phillips, J. Novotny, J. Postal, M. Ruskavich, A. Pisani, K. Pchola, F. Pstroch, N. Rindosh, K. Pufnak, L. Pronkoskie, L. Schiccatano, D. Shebelski, Fourth Row: J. Ritzman, W. Mogelinski, W. Shultz, E. Rhoades, C. Ritz, A. Rovito, K. Ryan, C. Rosini, J. Mikulanis, C. Preshlock, E. Moroz, J. Palacz, J. Schickley.

Absorbed are these freshmen of Sister Margaret Anthony's English class, except F. Cillo, who is bewildered by the variety of books assigned as required reading for literature. "Good luck, Frank!"

First Row: R. Yurkiewicz, B. Vesnefsky, J. Surak, W. Vanaskie, R. Varano, J. Zebrowski, E. Smink, G. Wysock, E. Yeager, D. Talisesky. Second Row: L. Tentromono, N. Tamanini, D. Martz, P. Varano, K. Schoch, V. Wisniewski, C. Sowul, T. Walsh, C. Salwocki, P. Seedor, J. Walsh. Third Row: M. Zlotorzynski, F. Thornton, S. Shawda, C. Sobotor, F. Stank, L. Zaneski, B. Yucha, A. Witt, J. Wolf, P. McCall, J. A. Yurick, P. Sinkovich. Fourth Row: T. Zelones, R. Slodysko, R. Zarambo, M. Skopatz, K. Schuck, N. Somerday, J. Yuricich, G. Segedy, S. Whitaker, C. Scholtes, R. Yost, J. Suchanick, L. Surak, R. Startzel.

By daily use of these flash cards, freshmen students endeavor to grasp the art of proper pronunciation and translation of these latin verbs. At the end of the year, these students hope to graduate "cum laude".

"Where on earth is the missing planet?" That is the question these members of the freshmen class are attempting to solve. D. Dziadosz says it is Neptune, while M. Hager, M. Golombieski, R. Varano insist it is Jupiter. But you guessed it, the answer is "Earth".



"Lift those lovely, lovely legs," is the Senior command given to these Freshmen "chorus" boys as they provide entertainment for the whole student body at the annual Freshmen Day program.

. . . with hope of achievement

As the year rapidly progressed, the freshmen increased their interest in the multitudinous facets of OLOL days. Their first social event, the Halloween dance, uncovered decorative skill and artistic flair as "barn yard harvestry" costumed the gymnatorium for the occasion.

Freshmen voices swelled the carols that warmed our hearts at Christmas.

With old and new acquaintances to accompany them, our Frosh have followed the footsteps of their big brothers and sisters with a realization that they themselves are training for the future and they have begun to perceive the happiness and joy which will be theirs as they advance through the years at Our Lady of Lourdes.

Mastering the techniques of angle formation are R. Konetski and T. Zelones. As these young gentlemen point out and display the different angles, Miss Nagle's Basic Arithmetic class watches attentively.

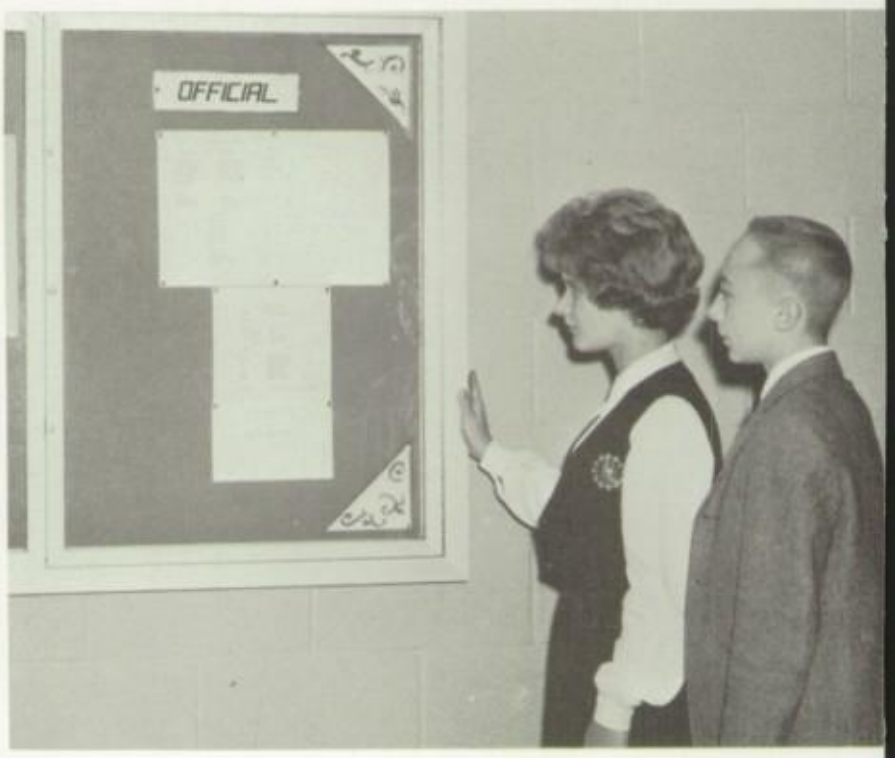
"Busy as Bee's are these freshmen of Sister Anselm's Algebra class, trying to conquer this essential form of math. With an attentive audience, R. Maher, G. Kanaskie, L. Lamey, P. Seedor, and P. Kiddon, try to install in the minds of their fellow classmates a more mature understanding of this subject. Because Mathematics is a prime factor in education, it is taken seriously by this group of freshmen who delve into the fundamentals of math and learn the process of solving problems.

First Row: John Glass, E. Klacik, Wm. Klemick, J. Marcheski, L. Marut, C. Gappa, J. Knarr, J. Golumbfakie, J. Koharski, L. Kanaskie. Second Row: E. Keegan, M. Golombieskie, K. Jurewicz, P. Kiddon, M. Hager, Wm. Haile.

"AB is parallel to CD; EF to GH; and angle W is equal to angle Z," says Robert Golden as he instructs his fellow classmates concerning the intricacies of angles and lines.

Cynthia Heims does the marking of the syllables as members of the class volunteer to complete scanning the famous opening lines of Edgar Allan Poe's "The Raven." Ronald Jakubowski waits patiently to label the meter.

Important items are posted on the front hall bulletin board. Thomas Carl and Lillian Ference check the announcements and the rosters for the coming school week.



"May we have corridor passes, please?" The request is being made by Catherine Varano, Donna Smokowicz, and Ann Spade to Miss Julia Nagle, moderator of their study period.

As the Class of '64 reentered the halls of OLOL after a summer of relaxation, its members looked forward to a year of new, though in the eyes of the upperclassmen, "premature" dignity. Another class now fell heir to the dubious honor of bearing the title "Frosh", and these second year scholars, having come through their period of initiation unscathed, proceeded with great earnest to further their academic knowledge.

At the beginning of sessions the sophomores were introduced to their curriculum for the coming year. They resolved from the start to buckle down to a year of "hitting the books."

SOPHOMORES

First Row: B. Feudale, M. LaBant, C. Hestor, R. Jancoskie, Second Row: J. Fedorczak, B. Katalenes, P. Muskey, S. Grego, I. Karpinski, K. Grabowicz, B. Koveleski, E. McCormick, D. Meisberger, C. Golden, A. Labato, R. Kapturoski, C. Laczkoskie, T. Herrity, R. Hager, J. Golden, L. Glasik, G. Hartzel, K. Kopinski, R. Galezewski, R. Jakubowski.

By now the Sophomores have greatly increased their knowledge. In Geometry, for instance, they discovered that the shortest distance between two points is one straight line. If you doubt this, simply watch the corridors between classes. In their study of Biology they have gone so far as to leave this world in order to enter into a new and exciting one via the microscope.

In order to enliven their course of studies the Sophomores participate in a wide field of extra-curricular activities ranging from Band to Baseball and from Football to Forensics.

As we see, the Sophomores have a well-rounded itinerary, the crowning touch of which is their supplication to Our Blessed Mother.

Edward Yukonis explains the life cycle of a Pteridophyte. "The frond" he says, "is the main stem of the common fern." Colleen Brennan, John Perry, Arlene Wilson, Marlene Skoskie, and John Donahue watch attentively.

striving for maturity

Sophomore members of Mr. Althoff's homeroom, diligently distribute the personal interview papers that will be analyzed by the school chaplain, Father Martini, as part of the student guidance program.

Tests are important factors in the life of all students at OLOL. This group of Sophomores is working against time, delving into their minds to relate to the teacher the subject matter he has put across.

J. Bainbridge is well stocked for the afternoon as A. Buggy collects for the candy. To hungry students the snack bar is a means of obtaining refreshments after lunch, dances, and games.

First Row: R. Rohrer, J. Pastuszek, J. Pavelko, E. Margel. Second Row: M. Skoskie, C. Pesansky, C. Reiner, D. Pasukinis, C. Rosini, M. Rumberger, J. Savitski, M. Roth, C. Sieklick, E. Shinskie, A. Ann Buggy and David Deak kneel to recite their penance at the feet of their loving Mother after receiving the Sacrament in our chapel. Weekly Confession is a privilege deeply cherished at Our Lady of Lourdes.

"1-2-3-4-touch-the-floor!" In keeping with the physical fitness plan these girls under Mrs. R. Gillespie prove to be quite acrobatic. Besides developing strong bodies this class aids in the development of sound minds.

Sophomore students appear to enjoy learning Latin vocabulary when they associate it with the game of basketball. Maybe the Romans never played this game but these Latin scholars are very fond of it.

David Cecco proves his point to Sandy Murawski as William Mattis waits his chance to give his algebraic view of the problem.

Chemistry offers satisfaction to these young scientists as they eagerly mix zinc with hydrochloric acid and collect hydrogen in the gas bottle secured by James Rosini.

JUNIORS

Now the title "upperclassmen", so long a dream, has become a reality. As its bearers, the juniors proudly undertake clerical, commercial, or academic courses to further themselves along the path to maturity. Earnestly they increase their speed in typing, transcribe their notes in stenography, and analyze the elements in test tubes.

With deepening appreciation, these same students participate in retreat, receiving additional help and strength in the spiritual life to attain a well-balanced outlook and approach to life, the aim of every "upperclassman."

Mr. Mulhall adds a little of fun to his class by permitting his students to mix "x's and o's" with American History. The object of the game is to fill as many squares as possible by correctly answering questions until the game is completed.

First Row: F. Sullivan, B. Shervanick, B. Witkowski, C. Rollman, B. Roma, M. Slesinski, J. Ziemba, B. Sabo, M. Sobotor, S. Rosini, C. Rovito, E. Walsh. Second Row: C. Witkoski, E. Yarema, L. Pogozelski, S. Socko, D. Procopio, P. Wolfe, M. Yonkoskie, K. Wojnarski, D. Pisani, C. Weimer. Third Row: J. Rosini, J. Rosini, W. Rovito, R. Zienda, T. Toter, G. Slaby, H. Zelones, R. Sock, J. Thomas, E. Scholtes, D. Ziobro.

A Tale of Two Cities, a required reading for Juniors, is the subject of Sister St. Mary's English class. Students are planning to enact a scene from the book for the class's entertainment.

The junior girls of Father Brown's religion class, give their attention to the front of the room, where Father Brown explains the reality of Living Our Faith.

Much happiness fills the memory book of the juniors. Preparation for the Christmas Dance brought lights, stars, and spirit within which shone more brightly than the varicolored glow and snowflaked weather outside. The busy decorating crew will long remember raising and trimming the almost thirty-foot tree.

Soon followed the announcement of class ring measurement. "Does this look too loose?" "Size seven?" After much debate each selected the perfect fit.

The pièce de resistance came at last. And the younger class showed to their soon-departing seniors that for contributing decorator's skill toward a perfect night, the junior-senior prom just couldn't be topped.

Spanish, enables these students to get along with our South American Neighbors. Carol Witkoski, Christine Dilliplane, James Thomas, and Sylvia Socko, examining a passport, discuss their hopes to have their own some day so they may visit our Spanish speaking friends.

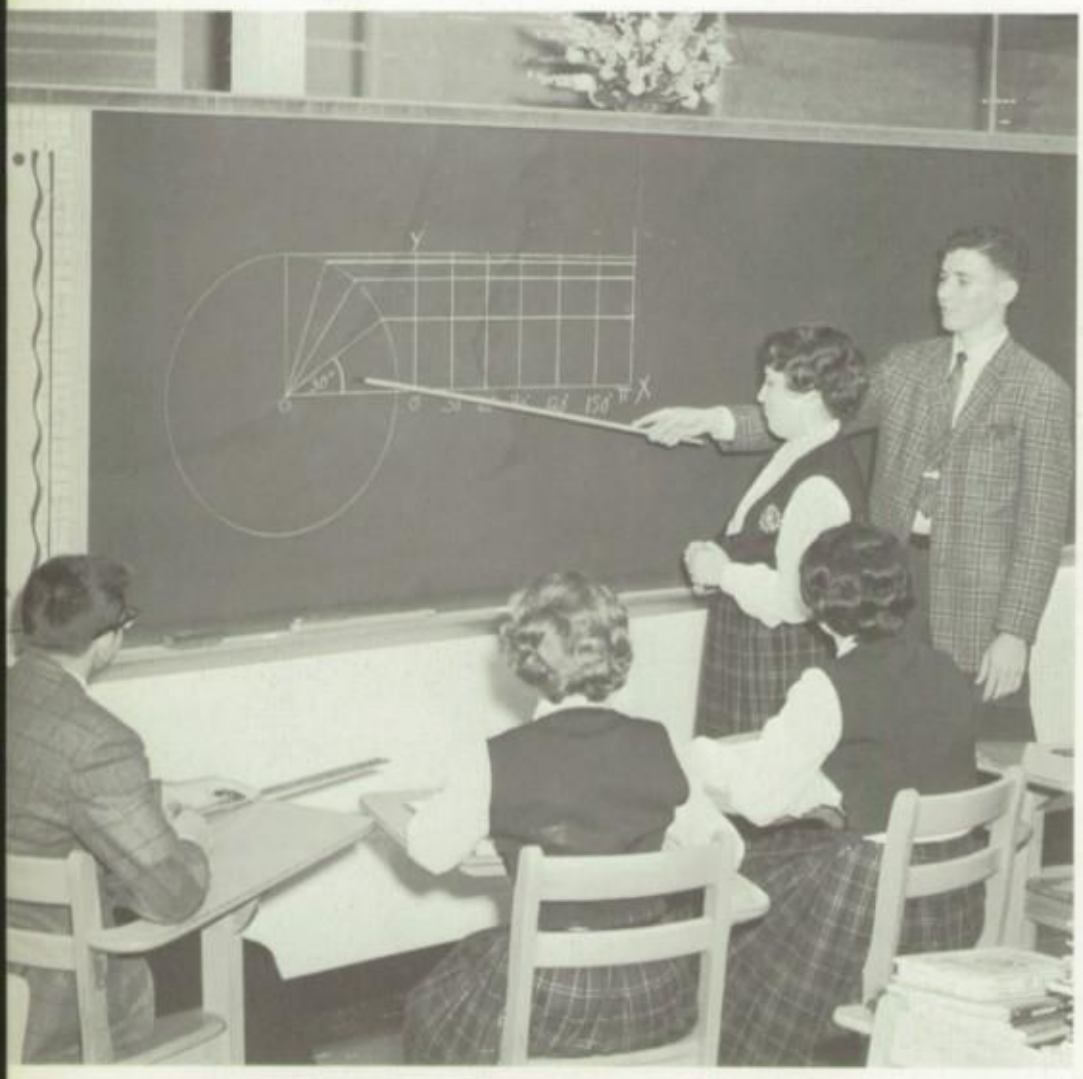
Consuls P. Costa and E. Roginski point out to Sister Armelia and their fellow officers, S. Ryan, R. Pedro, E. Gilger, and C. Sager, the Latin activities for the coming year. The other members look on with grins of approval.

SENIORS

We glance thoughtfully at our blue-stoned rings. They are symbols of our senior year, milestones along the educational highway to us, who, as serious young men and women, grasp more clearly truths we have always known surfacely and now must live fully. So, we seniors, armed with knowledge derived from the many courses we have studied at OLOL, and depending on the help of Christ and His Mother Mary for assistance, wear this ring proudly, proclaiming our loyalty to the truths taught at Our Lady of Lourdes and facing the future as "Subjects of Mary . . . .through the years."



Thomas Jucha explains the graphic function of a circle as meditative but confused J. Kohut, R. Pedro, J. Rovito and M. McCord look on, hoping that they will understand when the moment comes for them to explain.

Senior physics students, F. Garrigan, R. Leffler, C. Sherupski, T. Yezerski, E. Roginski, and E. Gilger, carefully perform a specific gravity experiment, proving that sodium chloride solution is denser than water.

Suzanne Sager, June Tyson, Mary Lou Machinski, and Mary Jean Leshinski, senior religion students, make use of the compendium to locate phrases and passages in the Bible. Senior students were granted this aid through the kindness of our principal who unselfishly made the compendium available to the students from his personal library.

to shape the present

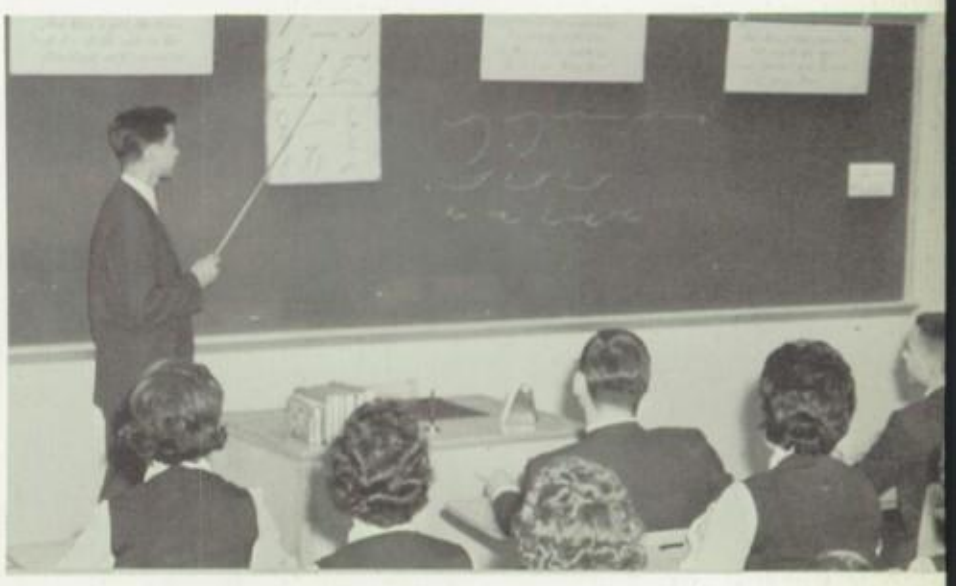
Anne Marie Dawgert records the barometric readings pointed out by Bernard Dormer, as Thomas Yucha adds mercury to the tube. William Barke observes the process.

"On stage, seniors!" So began our final year at Lourdes with a call to welcome the incoming freshmen. Then, the senior play featured our dramatically inclined members.

The contest for Queen of the Holiday Hop focused the spotlight on our more charming classmates. REALM and LOURDESCOPE depended on our editors, writers, and typists for completion. Musically talented seniors found themselves participating in an "All-Catholic Band Concert" while our sportsmen and women spent hours in practice and in contest to win laurels for OLOL.

Yes, in all these activities, seniors of 1961-62 revealed a marked determination to take the lead and to do their best as loyal "sons and daughters" of OLOL.

First speaker, Rose Marie Mrowka, addresses panel chairman, John Quinn, as other members of the discussion on the value of Catholic Education listen attentively.



Robert Ciesluk explains to the second year stenography class of Sister Clare of Assisi the rudiments of shorthand. Robert looks like a capable instructor, doesn't he?

Robert Yost examines a stencil before mimeographing copies for distribution to the class, as our clerical group of typists work hard at their machines.

Edward Weinhoffer appears to be fully absorbed in his work as he meticulously presents a summary of the weekly world events. The Senior Scholastic magazine is one of the newest items Mr. Benkovic has added to his Problems of Democracy course.

Thomas Jucha and Edward Roginski, president and vice-president of the student council, take their positions as principal and vice-principal on our annual turnabout day. Father Brown, acting student council member, anxiously awaits his orders.

First Row: E. Weinhoffer, S. Ryan, S. Sager, F. Stanchick, P. Varano, J. Tyson, G. Soubik, F. Shepos, R. Zyla, J. Vumbico. Second Row: E. Roginski, J. Strahosky, M. Wojnarski, C. Sager, M. From the looks of these hungry students, today's meal will have no trouble going down. On the opposite side of the counter are the ever courteous servers, who most diligently distribute the food.

French student Thomas Jucha eagerly illustrates small, smaller, and smallest as he relates the sizes of Florence Stanchick, Mary D'Angelo, and Faith Shepos to the French words inscribed on the board, petite, plus petite, la plus petite.

With the emphasis placed on physical fitness by President John F. Kennedy, OLOL has eagerly complied.

For the boys, training for the various teams keeps them "top-notch" all year round, as push-ups and laps, parts of the regular routine, build strength and endurance quickly.

In the line of team sports for the OLOL girls, 1961-62 has witnessed a "new-frontier" as regular practice time was made available and broader competition challenged our "Raiderettes."

Gym classes, well-organized and expertly handled by our physical education instructors, Mr. L. Mulhall, Mr. M. Benkovic, and Mrs. R. Gillespie, keep students in trim. Our "gym classes in action" at Open House brought home to us the realization that "a sound mind in a sound body" is more than a theory. OLOL puts theory into practice!

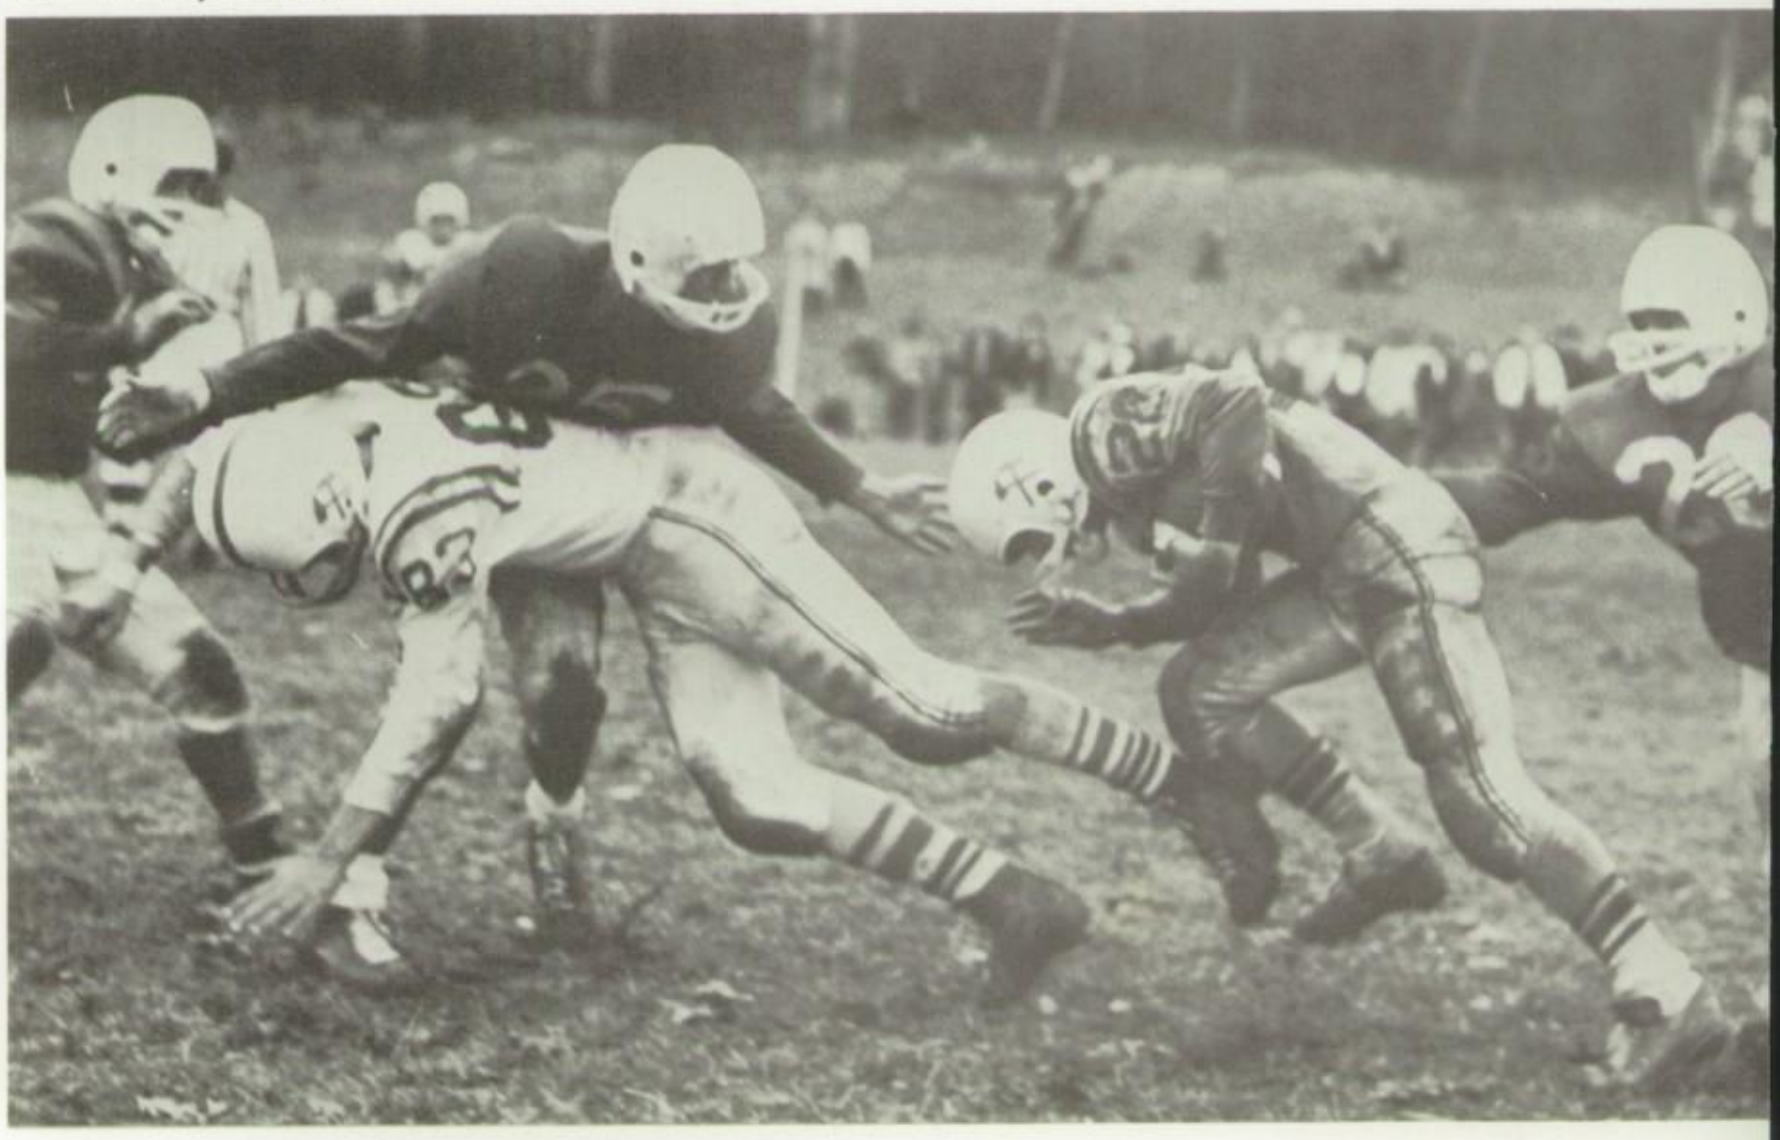
Robert Mace, the keystone and co-captain in the Raiders line this year, displayed his skill in sparking the Raiders to Victory.

With only four lettermen returning from last year's championship football team, Coach Leo Mulhall's fired-up Red Raiders pulled a stunning surprise and turned in a creditable 3-3-2 performance for 1961. The Cerise and White opened the season with a 13-0 victory over Cass Township followed by a 7-7 stalemate with Marian Catholic, narrowly missing a victory in the last few minutes. The traditional rivalry with Mt. Carmel Catholic was a repeat performance of the previous Sunday, ending in a 12-12 deadlock. The other Raider decisions were 20-0 and 7-6 victories over Shenandoah Catholic and Juniata Joint respectively. The Raiders' only defeats were decisive ones to Lebanon Catholic, Central Columbia and Nativity B.V.M.



1961 Edition of the Red Raiders Football Team. J. V. Team included: First Row: R. Leffler, C. Nasatka, E. Weinhoffer, B. Dormer, J. Brennan, F. Garrigan, R. Mace, J. Vumbico, G. Sadoski, K. Barber. Second Row: A. Glennon, J. Purcell, J. Richardson, R. Bobkoski, A. Kaschock, W. Barke, J. Rocuskie, R. Hager, W. Murphy, J. Rosini. Third Row: D. Preshloch, S. McCord, J. Bressi, J. Christiana, P. Zalanowski, D. Krushinski, J. Maurer, J. Golden, D. Dawgert, J. Sieklicki, J. Marcincavage, Fourth Row: J. Laskoski, H. Campton, E. Stesney, J. Christiana, J. Brocious, R. Rosini, R. Yost, F. Rovito, M. Marcinek, D. Shaffer, P. Kiddon, Fifth Row: M. Robatin, G. Graeber, D. Haggerty.

Jim Richardson (20), hard-hitting red head for the Raiders, totes the ball on one of his pile drive run-backs through a score of opponents. William Barke (83), throws a key block into a Shenandoah defendant as he clears the way for Jim.

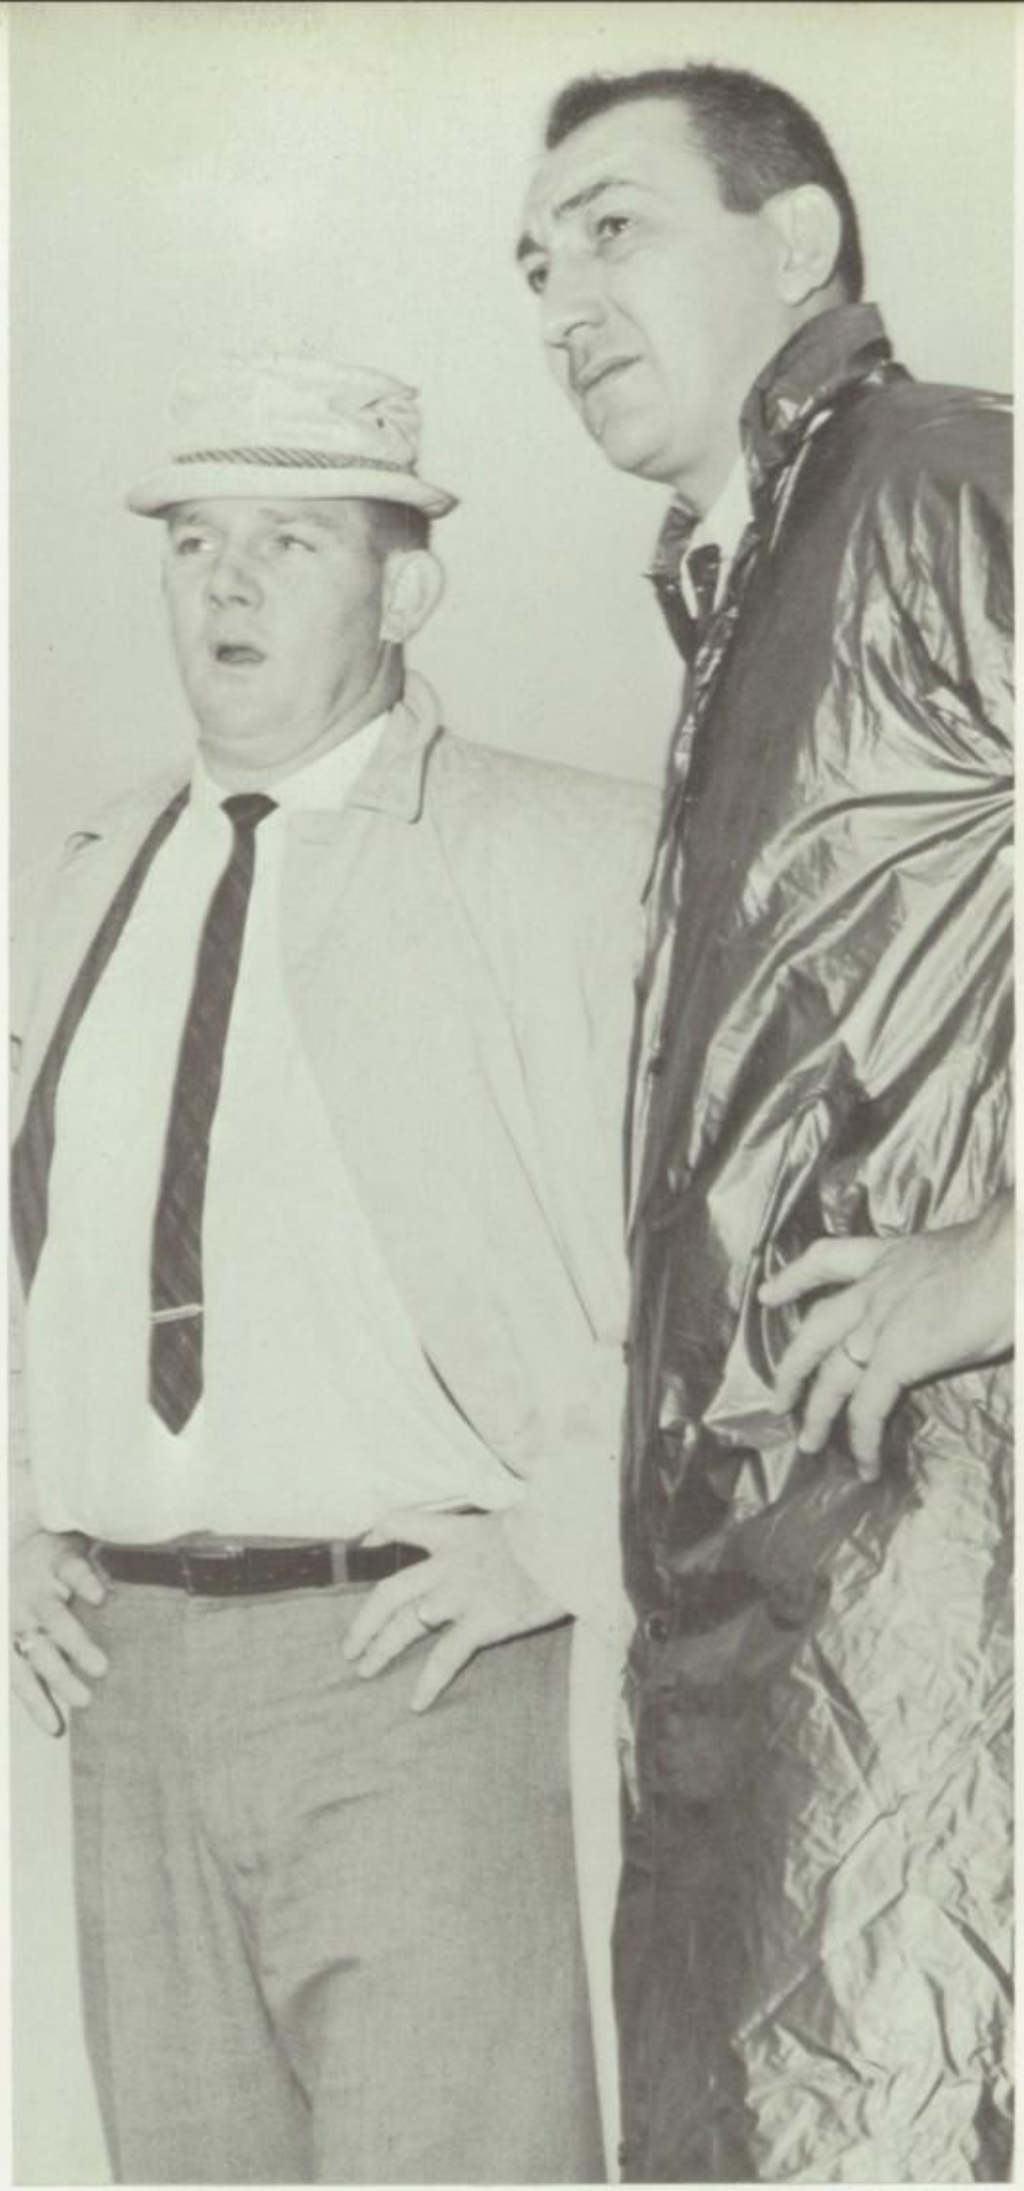
The starting line-up of the 1961 Red Raider's features, first row: A. Glennon, E. Weinhoffer, K. Barber, C. Nasatka, R. Mace, J. Maurer, W. Barke. Second Row: B. Dormer, J. Rosini, R. Leffler, J. Purcell, D. Preshlock, J. Brennan, F. Garrigan.

Co-captain B. Dormer and substitute captain A. Glennon (filling in for injured R. Mace and R. Leffler) along with three Shenandoah team leaders receive last minute instructions from the officials for the final game of the year.

The pressure is on for the big game of the year as a prayer and final instructions from Mr. Mulhall are the topics of this huddle. Without a doubt, the Raiders look ready to go.

Head coach Leo Mulhall and assistant coach Martin Benkovic turned in another fine season for Our Lady of Lourdes. Each coach had his pleasant surprises this year. For Mr. Mulhall it was his standout line, including such chargers as Robert Mace and Albert Glennon. For Mr. Benkovic it was the staunch defense which included such bulwarks as K. Barber, C. Nasatka, J. Brennan, B. Dormer, and W. Barke. Both coaches' abilities and hard work deserve words of praise and of thanks from Lourdes' fans.

John Brennan (48) scampers around right end and past the outstretched arms of a Shenandoah defender (25) for a score. However, an off-sides infraction by a raider lineman results in nullifying the T.D.



Head coach Leo A. Mulhall Jr. and assistant Martin J. Benkovic seem to have found a flaw in opponent Shenandoah Catholic's defense and their expectations for the Raiders to win the ball game increase.

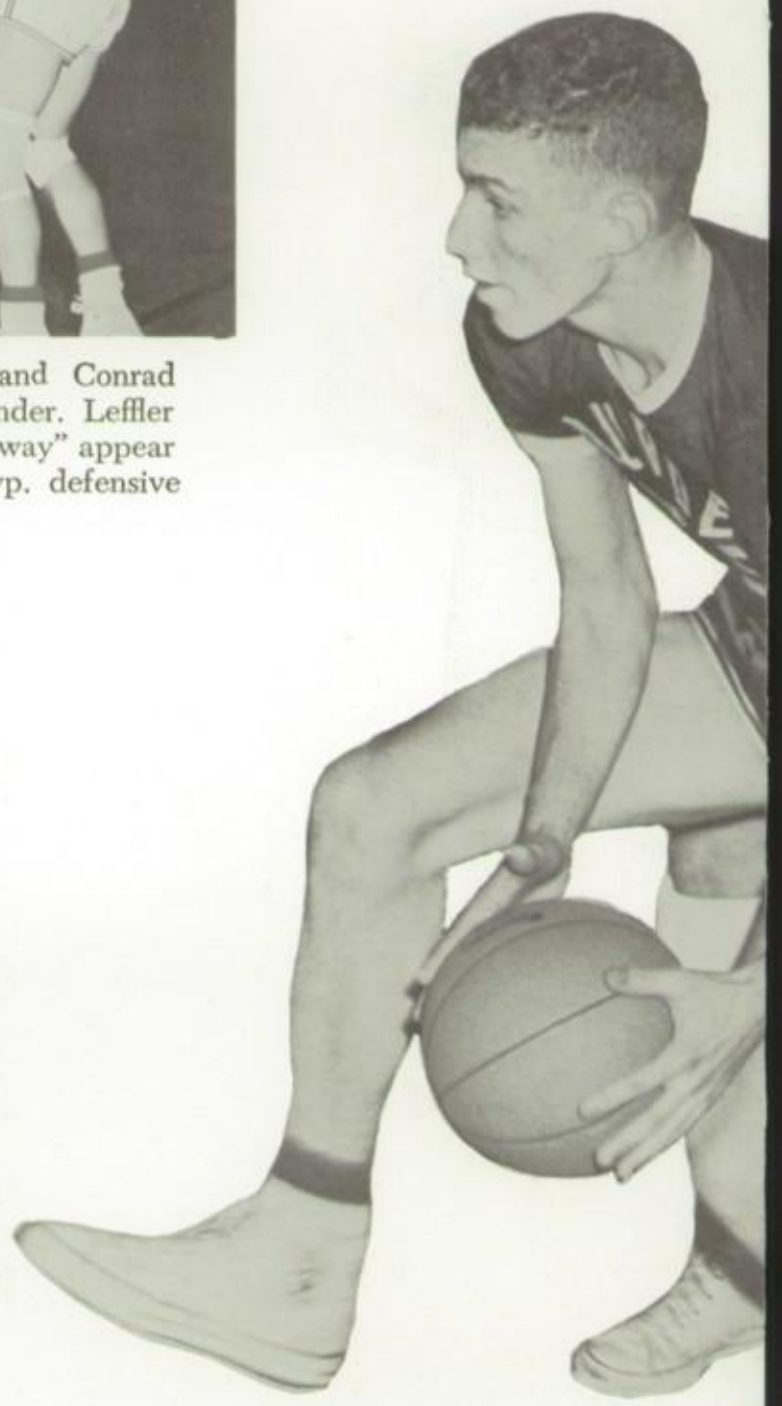
BASKETBALL



Above: "High jumping on the court," Captain, Tom Yucha (24), and Conrad Nasatka (22) furiously battle for the ball with a Nativity B.V.M. defender. Leffler and Duncheski wait on tip-toes for the loose ball. Right: "Get out of my way" appear to be the words coming from Tom Yucha as he side steps a Coal Twp. defensive man and dribbles in for the score.

The Catholic Boosters Association presents an ultra-sonic wave machine used in therapy for athletic injuries. Members that represent the association are: Mr. Leo Mulhall, football coach, Mr. Martin J. Benkovic, basketball coach, Mrs. Kinsley Smeltz, president, and Mrs. Charles Campton, treasurer, and Dr. V. J. Baluta, team physician.

Mister Benkovic, head basketball coach of the Red Raiders, was faced with the task of building a winning team from an inexperienced squad which included only three lettermen. Although supposedly hampered by this fact, the boys worked hard and developed into one of the best balanced teams in the area. Throughout the season they were characterized by a tremendous desire for victory, turning in some of their best performances when they were rated underdogs. These basketeers never gave up and fought to the final buzzer in every encounter. After each game, whether a victory or a defeat, the Raiders' opponents knew they had been in a ball game. The Raider victories were due to no individual but to hustle and a 'great team effort.

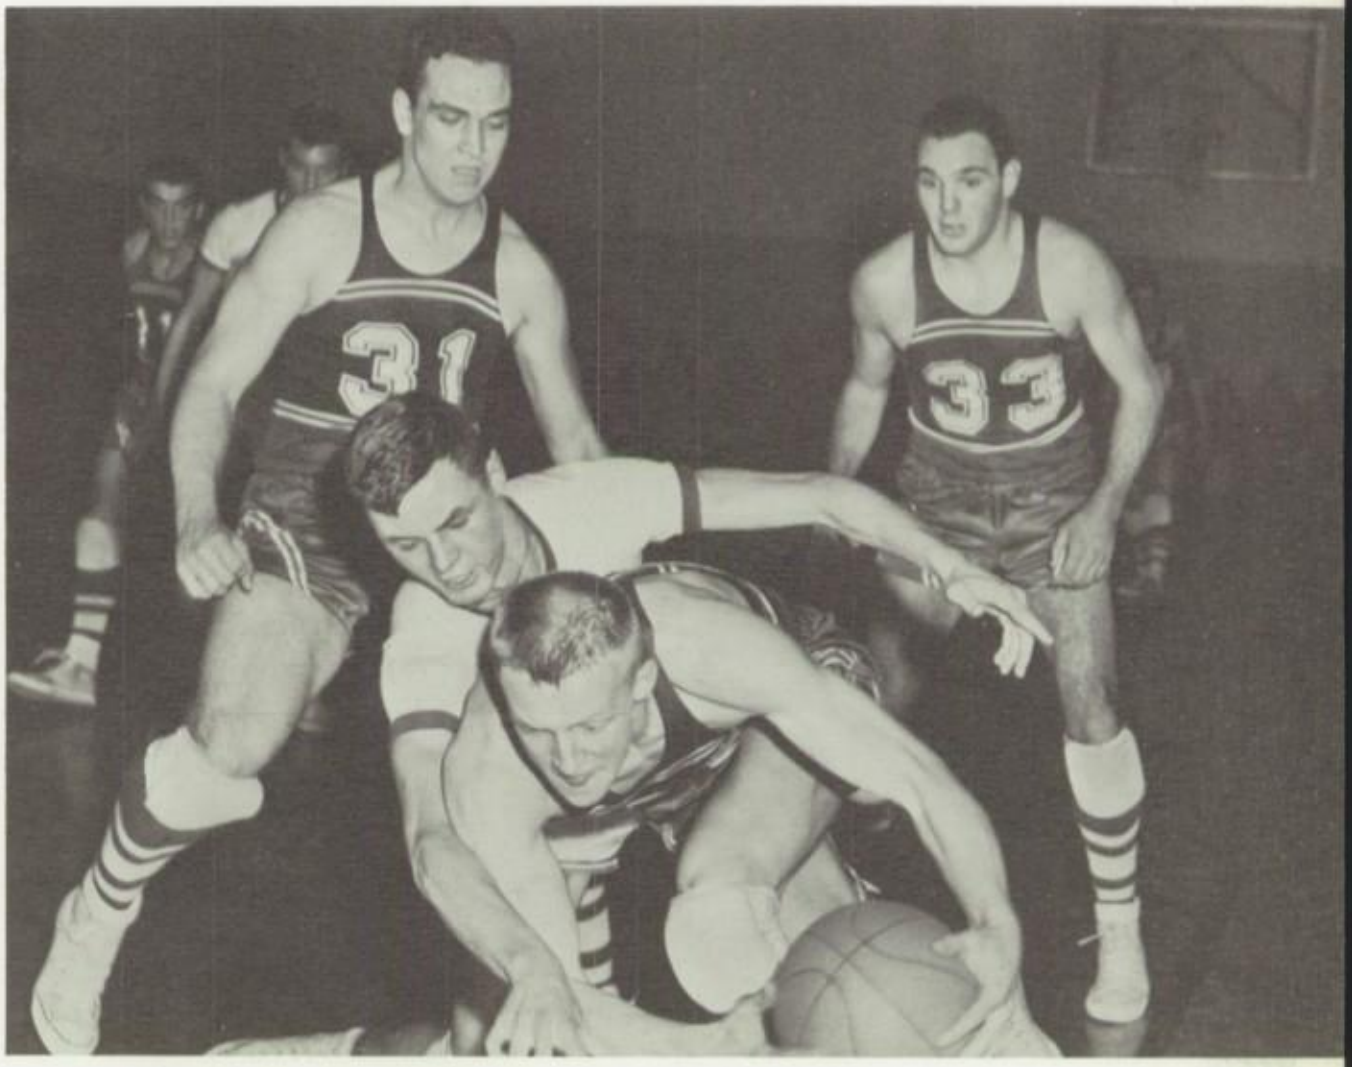
Basketeers battle to stardom



"Pardon my boarding house reach," says Bob Leffler to Jake Ozga of the Purple Demons as he frantically scraps his way to get the ball.

Ripping the cords

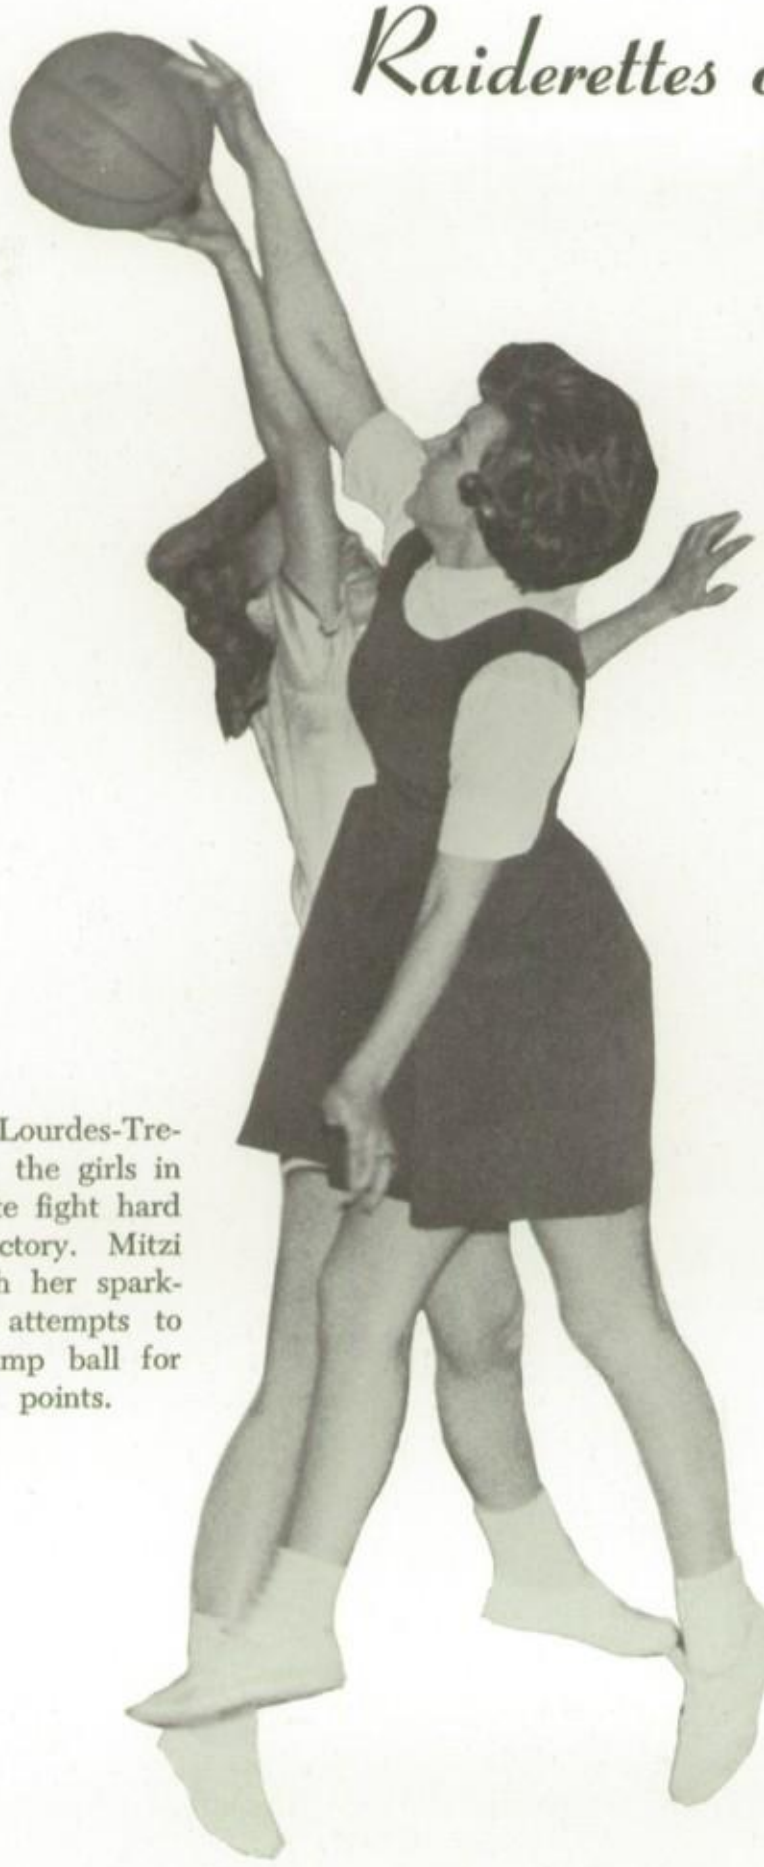
OLOL's Fighting Freshmen are: Kneeling: Robert Startzel, Francis Cillo, Gregory Kanaskie. Standing: Philip Haile, Leon Kanaskie, John Sieklicki, Fred Karpinski, Donald Dziadosz, John Palacz, Jerome Surak, Edward Buggy.

Bob Leffler, co-captain and leading scorer of the Red Raiders court squad, outjumps a Delone Catholic defender in a contest that put Lourdes in a tied position for first place with Bishop McDevitt of Harrisburg.

"Dunk it Duck," seems to be the cry as Francis Duncheskie drives in for a two-point play. Bill Barke and Bob Leffler follow the shot.

"Always on the ball" is the motto kept by Bob Leffler as he displays his finesse in this perfect lay-up.

Raiderettes on the go



During the Lourdes-Trevorton game, the girls in red and white fight hard for their victory. Mitzi Matzura with her sparkling agility, attempts to recover a jump ball for another two points.

Trevorton has the ball now, but not for long. Watch out, here comes Barb Mahon charging from behind. Mitzi Matzura also displays her best for a sparkling victory.

Awaiting to recover another jump ball are the ever-ready Raiderettes.

A really rough and tough guard for the Raiderettes is Lois Balanda, who tries to shake off her opponent by passing the ball to the other side.

"Let's go Raiderettes, we want some action!" is commonly heard at the basketball games. Our peppy and energetic Raiderettes, coached by Mrs. Robert Gillespie, had an excellent season on the basketball court. The girls in red and white showed much teamwork, enthusiasm and fairplay in their games this season. With vim and spirit, the Raiderettes upset Trevorton with the score of 46-41, their first victory of the season. The team impressed many loyal fans with its bold and lively action. Although losing many seniors, we predict a future of "champs" for Lourdes Raiderettes.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Members of the Junior Varsity Squad look onward to very promising seasons during their future years at Our Lady of Lourdes. Kneeling: Maria Mochulski, Lorraine Lamey, Judith Savitski, and Barbara Rosini. Standing: Jacqueline Slaby, Doris Patrick, Carol Scholtes, Kathy Schuck, Mary Ann Skopatz, and Theresa Valeskie. "Good Luck, J. V.'s!"

CHEERLEADERS

"OH, no! It has to go in! You can't miss this one!" Thomas Jucha, only too happy to oblige, sinks the shot a moment later putting us two points further on the road to victory over Coal Township.

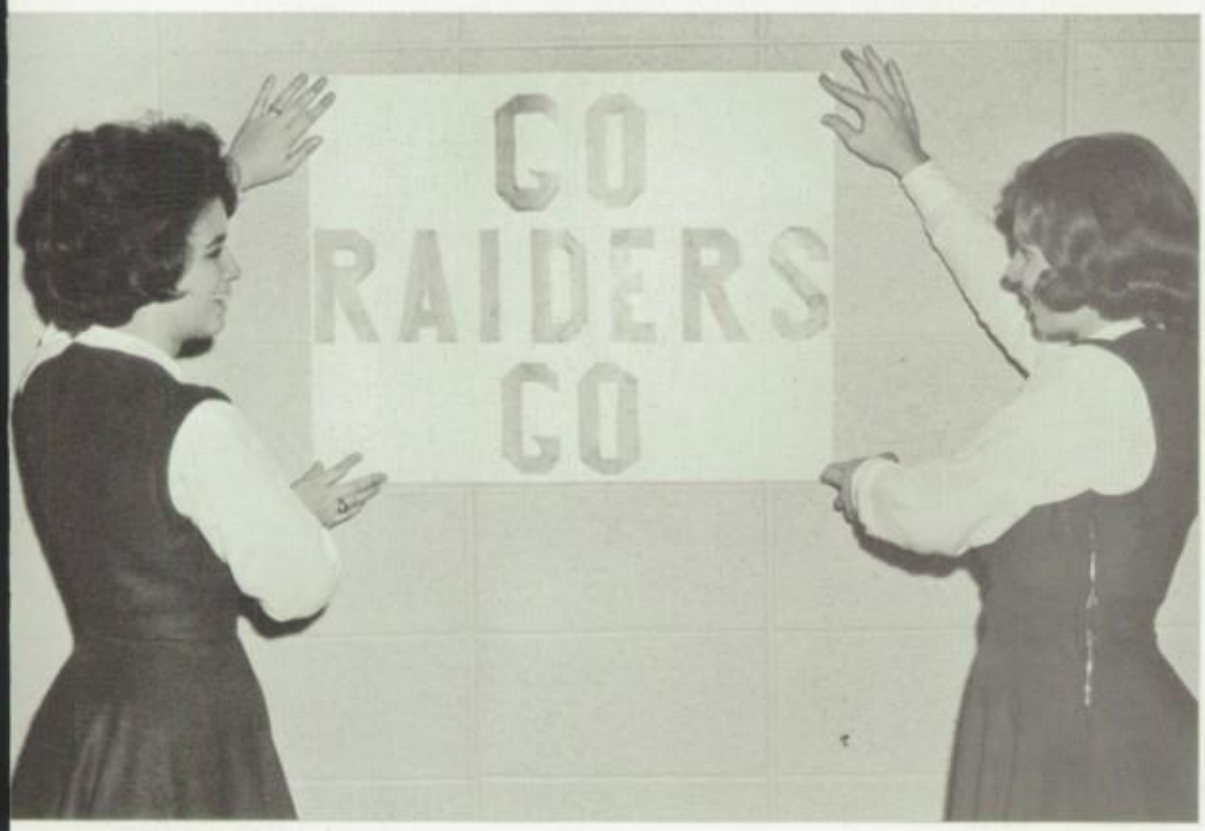
Behind every victorious team is an enthusiastic crowd of fans and lively cheerleaders. This is true at OLOL where our cheerleaders exert a considerable amount of energy to spread school spirit among our students. They do so by participating in entertaining pep rallies and displaying posters throughout the school.

The coaches and teams express their appreciation to these loyal lassies for their outstanding backing and the school congratulates them for their help in making the 1961-62 season a "rousing success."

Spirit Spells Success

Alert and peppy Suzanne Gilger, captain of the Varsity Cheerleading squad, leads the student body in supporting our team.

Energetic are these Varsity cheerleaders: Adrienne Novinskie, Carol Witkoski, Mary Narke, Suzanne Gilger, Gloria Pedrosa, Suzanne Sager, and Louise Pogozelski, who at every game encourage the Raiders on to Victory! Chief Red Raider, portrayed by William Smith, is also a member of this high-spirited group whose enthusiasm fills the student body with rousing animation.



"Go Raiders Go", a favorite yell among our students, is the message delivered by this poster being hung by Gloria Pedrosa and Suzanne Sager. Before each game the halls of our school are usually adorned with similar words of encouragement.

School spirit and "get-up-and-go", which form the backbone of all successful activities, certainly are not lacking among our students here at Lourdes. These, coupled with patience, determination, and artistic endeavor, produce musicales, dances, shows, and skits. A bit of good old-fashioned fun is experienced in knowing that others will be happily sharing the results of the time and the labor expended on each project.

Silent pride in a job well done is taken by each member of the "team" who does his best to accomplish the goal. This unselfish cooperation prepares us to give of ourselves for the general good of all—an ideal beneficial to each one of us as we venture into a broader world, a world eager for generous, selfless men and women.

ACTIVITIES

C. Sherupski and E. Roginski are anxious to unseal the film "Cyrano de Bergerac," while C. Hynoskie, A. Dawgert, G. Snyder, M. D'Angelo and T. Jucha chuckle over the "nose" speech of Cyrano.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the binding link in a close relationship between students and faculty. Its members are chosen by their classmates as representatives of the ideas and wishes of the entire student body. In this capacity they work to convey to the faculty suggestions submitted to them by school-spirited individuals.

Activities of the Council include the initiation and sponsorship of many school projects. Also on their agenda its members find corridor duty. Their kind and authoritative assistance in this necessary job of keeping order in our corridors is greatly appreciated by all.

The members of the Student Council through their diplomatic services aid in making our school life much more pleasant. This experience will help them to become leaders among men. In a world torn by misunderstanding and hardships theirs may someday be the task of hurtling the barriers on the road to international peace.

Therefore! A salute to our Student Council – to their leadership and their diplomacy.

Decorations play an important part in making a dance a memorable event. Here Junior Student Council members are displaying the decorations for the Christmas Dance, one of the top activities of the Junior Class.

Freshman and Sophomore members of the Student Council admiring the Advent wreath in the school lobby are: Michael Vanaskie, Thomas Eckman, Rosemary Maher, Katherine Baceski, John Haile, Alice Ghezzi, Dennis Preshlock, James Christianna.

Thomas Jucha, presiding as principal for the annual Turn-About Day, is receiving the weekly lunch list from the Student Council members, who check and distribute tickets to the student body.

Signs of relief and happiness are written on the faces of these Senior members of the Lourdescope staff, when all of the hard work, research, and composition is finally "in print." As a result of tedious labor on the part of these Seniors each issue is "par excellence."

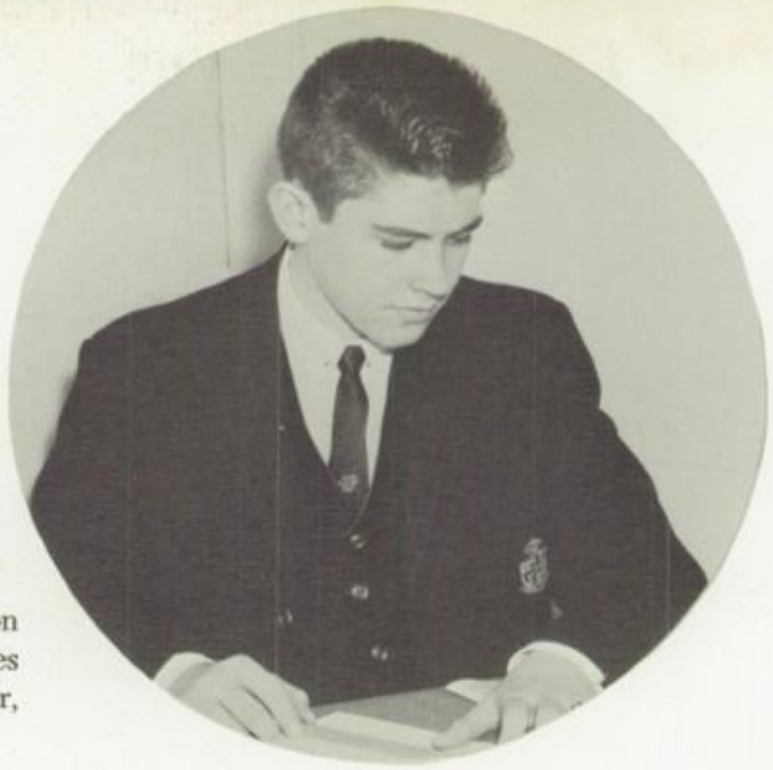
Business managers, June Tyson, Mary Leshinski, Gertrude Snyder, and Mary Machinski check the mailing list. As they have indicated, the Lourdescope circulates in a much wider area than that of our high school.

LOURDESCOPE

Six times yearly, THE LOURDESCOPE, proudly presents scholastic events and journalistic achievements. A competent staff, under the guidance of Sister St. Mary, combines literary skill with articles, columns, and editorials. This diligent group spends many laborious hours in the "Lourdescope Room" to meet the deadline. Although each issue means more research, composing, and proofreading on the part of Sister and the students, this year they have added two more issues of the paper.

O. L. O. L. students eagerly await the day when the paper arrives. Personal delight fills those who see their names in print, as well as those who see their literary contributions in black and white.

We at Lourdes have an advantage not available to most high schools. Our paper is printed in the city by the local newspaper company, The Shamokin Citizen. This helps to defray expenses that would be encountered if each issue were sent out of town.



Before the Lourdescope starts on its way to the printer it receives the "third degree" from editor, Joseph Durdock.

The right hand men! Carol Ostroskie, Elizabeth Gilger, Daniel Surak, and Anne Marie Dawgert, associate editors, insure exactness in every issue of the paper. Here they are selecting the size of type to appeal to the reader.

Fresh from the printer! Junior staff members read the latest issue of the Lourdescope and begin to formulate plans for the next. It won't be long until the full responsibility of keeping O.L.O.L. students well informed will rest upon the shoulders of these students.

THE REALM

To us belonged the privilege of choosing theme, cover, color, and ideas for our 1962 REALM. In this Age of Mary, as our beloved Holy Father Pope Pius XII designated these contemporary years, how could we better plan our yearbook than by moving – "Through the years as the subjects of Mary."

Hours of hard work mingled with hours of enjoyment, as we watched page after page nearing completion. What excitement – that first glance at our cover! How could we forget the day the first section "went to press", or the interminable hours before the finished publication found its way to Shamokin.

Fun plus work plus waiting equals the 1962 REALM, gift of loving subjects to Our Lady of Lourdes.

Bernard Dormer, editor-in-chief, discusses plans concerning the yearbook for 1962 with co-editors, Dolores Bogetti and Jo Anne Alter.

Time and effort are essential factors in the development of a good yearbook, and these are given willingly by our hard-working editors.

"The 1962 Realm will be the best book ever published" is a fact agreed upon by all members as they examine the dummy of the years publication.

Business Managers W. Barke and G. Soubik expertly handle the financial matters of the 1962 Realm.

Realm typists, M. Wojnarski, B. Dansavage, R. Mrowka, P. Varano and G. Pedrosa play a substantial part in the making of our yearbook. These girls behind the scenes are found daily typing "captions" and "copy" submitted to them by the literary staff.

Credit for our design goes to Alfred Valeski, REALM artist. Al's time-consuming hobby proves to be a valuable asset when sketches are urgently needed for the completion of our book.

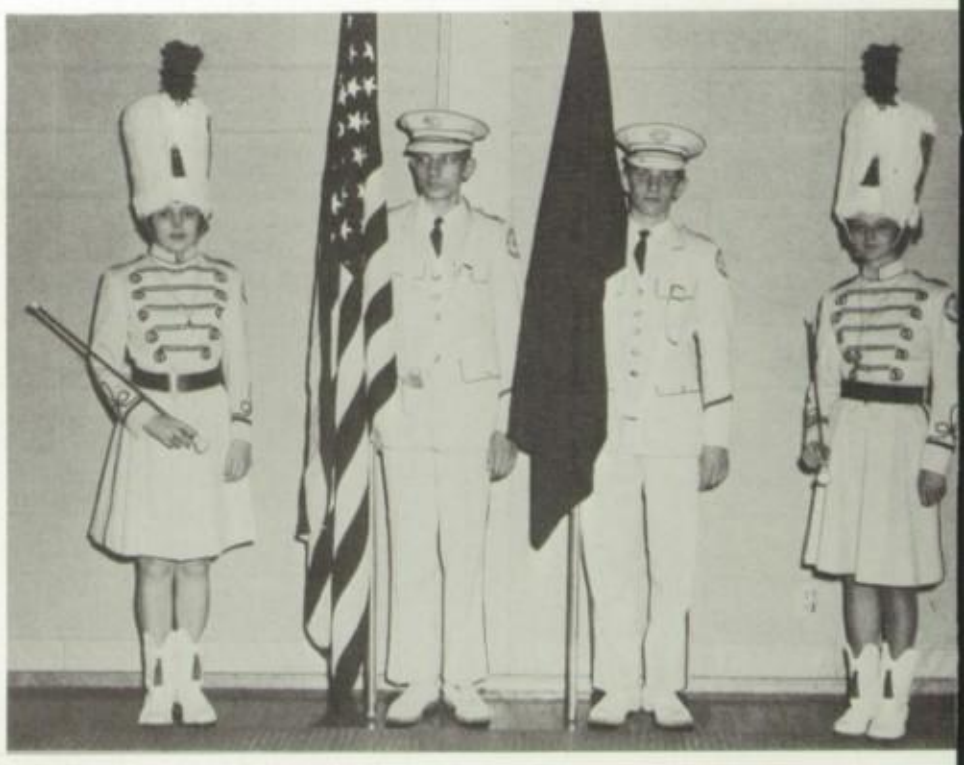
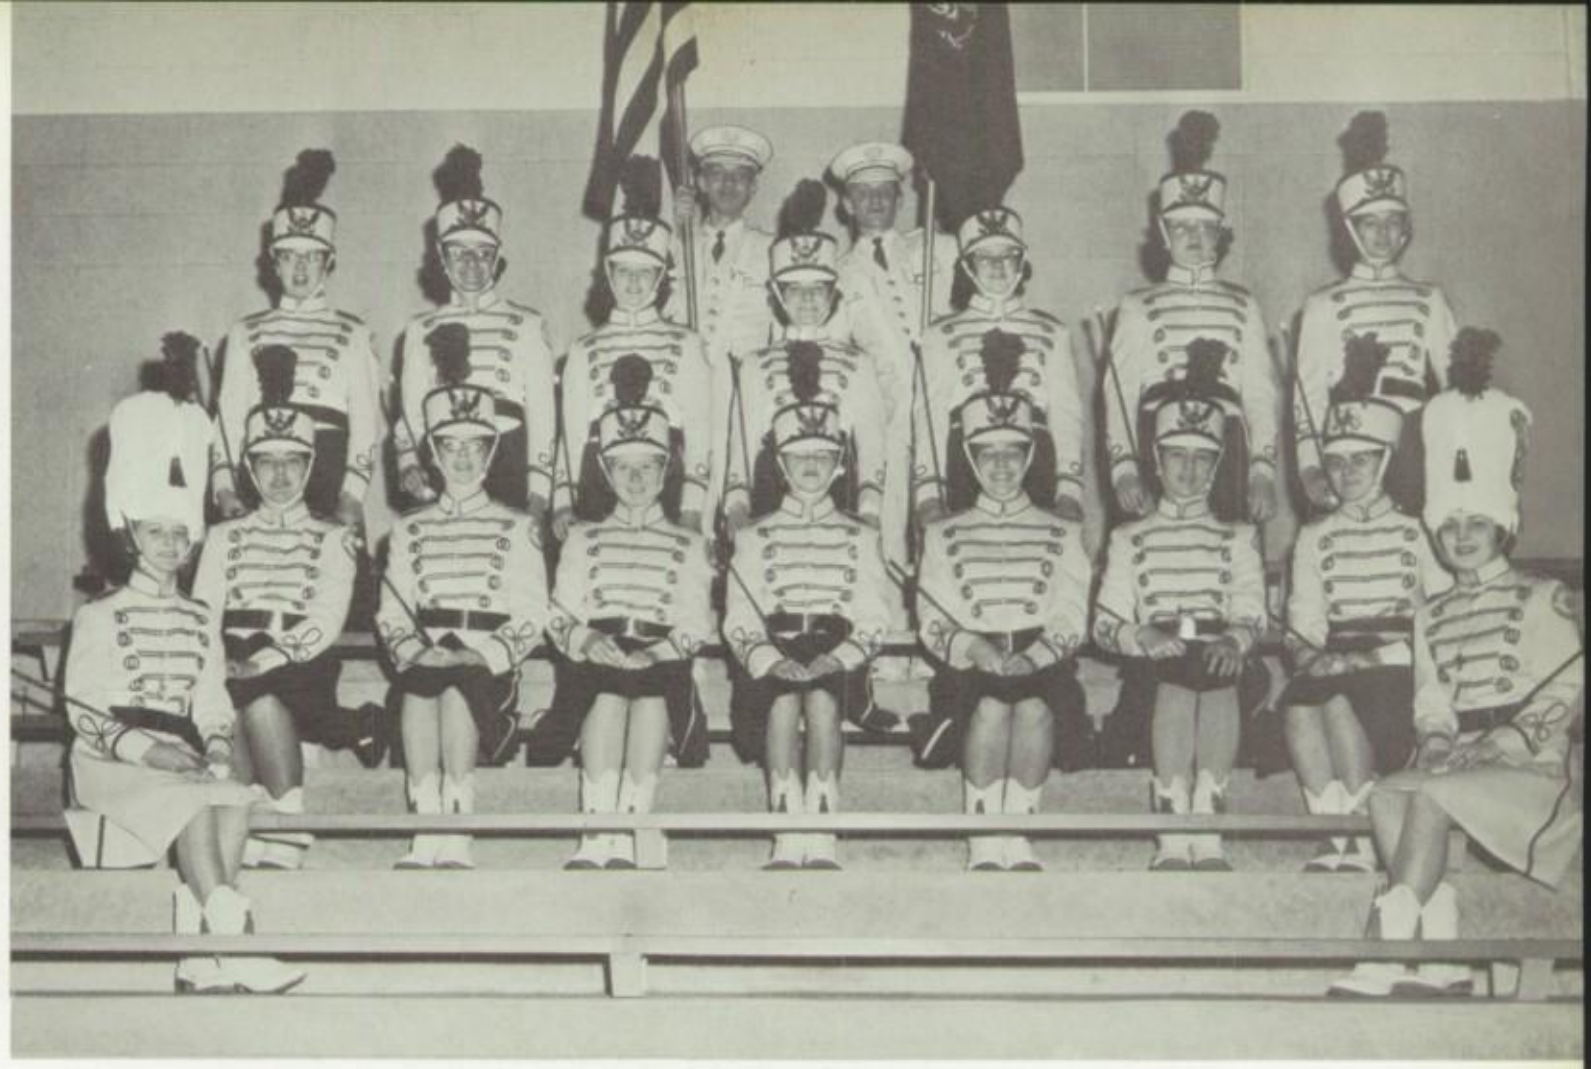
Through the combined efforts of the faculty and students music has come to play an important role in our school activities.

Music lends its magical helping hand to many functions at Our Lady of Lourdes. Contemplate an assembly minus the National Anthem or the School Song, or imagine, if you will, a football game without the supporting influence of the band's inspiring playing. Think of the Christmas play minus the carolers. Certainly a "thing of beauty" and a spur for spirit at Our Lady of Lourdes is our Music Department!



Posing for the Realm photographer the color guard, R. Galeczewski and R. Nacinovich, peep out from behind their banners. Our agile looking drum majorettes, T. Rosini and S. Shamanski, take time from their busy schedules to smile graciously for us.

With arms outstretched Joseph Toter is ready for action, anxiously awaiting the signal from the director to "strike up the band."



The majorettes and color guard of Our Lady of Lourdes Music Department gladly yield their time for a yearbook snapshot. First Row: Sandra Shamanski and Tina Rosini, head majorettes. Second Row: Janice Gaughan, Patricia Dormer, Jo-Anne Dauksha, Patricia Bincoskie, Donna Smokowicz, Barbara Stellar, Joan Butkey. Third Row: Rosemary Kokoles, Catherine Varano, Barbara Gemberling, Mary Rumberger, Micheline Hine, Mary Ann Haile, Mary Jean Leshinski. Color Guards: Robert Galeczewski, and Robert Nacinovich.

Members of the Glee Club sing out a happy rendition during the Spring Musicale. Doris Henninger leads this musical group in song. "Wooden Shoes" and "Seranata" are just two of the many selections. "Festival in Spring" is the theme of the grand finale realistically highlighted throughout the gymnatorium by butterflies and picket fences.

"Music, music, and more music" can be heard echoing through the halls of Our Lady of Lourdes High School. The band, under the direction of Mr. Al Carsto, adds lively spirit to school activities, while the majorettes, instructed by Mr. Ralph Edwards, can be seen marching and strutting to its beat.

Another popular feature of our expert music department is the Glee Club, which is under the capable direction of Sister Margaret Anthony. This club plays an important part in the presentation of the annual Spring Musicale. Sister Margaret Anthony, head of the Music Department, sees to it that where there are students, there is music!

Caught by the camera in a moment of musical glory the band, under the direction of Mr. Carsto, performs for the annual Spring Musical.

Mr. Frank Rovito keeps W. Kramer, C. Hestor, D. Deak, F. Sullivan, G. Sadoski and W. Richardson of our brass section in tune for our coming Spring Festival, the major goal of our music department.

Musical instruction can be a rewarding experience and very often is for Mr. Tony Vivaldo who coaches the clarinet section of our band. His very attentive students are: J. Roherer, E. Dadurka.

The activities of our versatile band members range from distribution of music by Kathleen Gobora and Paula Charnosky to the arrangement of chairs by Leon Marut and John Knarr. Sandra Shamanski, Patricia Dormer, and Santina Rosini check and distribute uniforms.

Our candid camera caught this frank picture of the cast of the 1961 Minstrel during those last hectic minutes before the curtain opened. The young ladies present lent a helping hand in the make-up line.

"I enjoy being a girl," is the cry of Josephine (Joe) Vumbico as she leaps into the arms of an interested "Romeo." Members of the chorus seem entranced by this flirtatious miss!

Under the direction of William Conway, Leonard Lucas, Joseph Jasicki and William Alter these members of the Varsity Club Minstrel present their annual Varsity Club Minstrel Show.

You're not seeing double! It's T. Jucha singing "I'm getting married in the morning" accompanied by his reflection, T. Yezerski.

Barney Google (B. Dormer) and Sparkplug (R. Pultyniewicz and M. Richardson) made a "galloping" debut in the Varsity Minstrel!

Varsity Club Minstrel

Through the untiring efforts of the four directors, William Conway, William Alter, Leonard Lucas, and Joseph Jasicki, the Varsity Minstrel Show never fails to score high with its audience; nor does it fail to mean laughter and enjoyment for its cast!

Participants are chosen from the lettermen who have earned membership in the Varsity Club through outstanding performance in any of the three sports – football, basketball or baseball. Much preparation – almost as rigorous as team training – is put into the rehearsals for the production of a winning performance.

Through the proceeds the athletic branch of Our Lady of Lourdes High School helps finance sporting equipment for its various activities.

Jenny Kissed Me

"Jenny Kissed Me!", a comedy in three acts, written by Jean Kerr, was presented by the Senior Class of '62.

The scene took place at Saint Matthew's Rectory where Mrs. Deazy perpetrated many tricks and comical schemes, persuading Father Moynihan to permit Jenny, her parentless niece, to reside at the rectory with her. Wasn't Michael Saunders, a school director, a rectory boarder? Father very reluctantly acquiesced.

As he knew nothing about women, Father Moynihan attempted to become informed by reading the "Ladies Home Journal" and other women's magazines. From his investigations he realized that Jenny, a shy farm girl, would have to appear more attractive to catch a beau. Of course, Father nominated himself "beauty stylist".

After many "ups and downs" and complications galore, Jenny takes the hand of Michael Saunders in marriage despite Father's interference but with his blessing.

Embarrassed is Shirly Tirabossi (Jo Anne Alter) as Sister Mary of the Angels (Mary Edmunds) attempts to improve her uniform by attaching an over skirt. Her efforts prove futile because of Shirley's over-weight.

"Steady, boys!" says Francis Garrigan as he attempts to secure the scenery for the class play with the help of his co-workers James Scicchitano and Alfred Valeski while Thomas Fobia holds the ladder. Sister Mary Ellen and the cast are grateful to these active and industrious stage hands.

Mrs. Deazy (G. Pedrosa), Father Moynihan's housekeeper, stands with hands folded hoping Father will change his mind about Jenny's not staying at the rectory. Jenny (A. M. Dawgert) has just arrived from her father's farm in the Rocky Mountains after an invitation from her aunt, but Father Moynihan (T. Yezerski) is determined she cannot stay and will have to leave.

Because of Jenny's (Anne Marie Dawgert) farm girl appearance Owen Parkside (John Kohut) tries to make some improvements on her face. A college boy and very popular, Owen knows how the "hep girl" should wear and apply make-up, so he is giving her a few pointers on the subject.

After being nagged constantly by his housekeeper about Jenny, Father Moynihan tries to relax at the end of a hectic day.

"Oh no, you wouldn't do that!" screams Mrs. Deazy as she tries to stop Father from sending her niece, Jenny, back home.

An important character in "Jenny Kissed Me" is Michael Saunders portrayed by Charles Sherupski, who suddenly falls in love with Jenny.

"I'm all through cutting the grass" exclaims Owen Parkside (Jack Kohut) as he brings the lawn-mower into the living room of St. Matthew's Rectory. In Fathers opinion, Owen, a hep and brassy college boy is just the right one for Jenny.

On Stage Everybody!

Following their fourth and final performance of "Jenny Kissed Me," the cast members momentarily pose for the REALM photographer. First Row: B. Postal, G. Snyder, Mary A. Watral. Second Row: J. Usherettes include Joan Fitzpatrick, Constance Hynoski, Mary Jean Leshinski, Caroline Sager and Paulette Costa. These smiling young lassies did a fine job distributing programs and ushering the audience to their seats. Thank you, girls, for your fine support.

M. Budjako, S. Ryan, P. Costa, and E. Roginski admire a copy of "Auxilium Latinum", held by E. Gilger, illustrating the winners of a nationwide Latin contest. The trophies were won by students of O. L. O. L. in the Latin contest.

Members of the Forensic Club, moderated by Sister Mary Anselm, watch attentively as five experienced members illustrate the primary steps and proper motions necessary for the delivery of a good speech.

Members of the Library Club are busy listening to directions from president, Florence Stanchick, who tells them "what to do next". These girls, along with the other members of the club, make sure that this important room is always kept in order.

Activities

Thomas Yucha writes down some of the suggestions of his fellow Varsity Club Members. Among the various items discussed by these letter-winning athletes was the annual Minstrel. Under the direction of Mr. Mulhall these young men raise money through various projects for the betterment of the school's athletic program.

No, you're not having an optical illusion, these are the winners of the best dressed and most original Halloween costumes. Kneeling: G. Segedy, D. Albert. Standing: T. Yezerski, C. Ostroski, W. Klemick, P. Zalanoski, R. Belena.

C. Sherupski and E. Roginski welcome visitors during the annual open house. The purpose of the open house is to give parents and teachers a chance to become better acquainted, and to discuss the problems encountered by students in their school life.

At the feet of the Kneeling before the Madonna (M. A. Slesinski) is a "Modern Girl" (M. Kolonoski). With her are a "Martyr" (A. M. Lasitzkie), a "Young Mother" (P. Charnosky), and a "Queen" (C. Sager) who have come to Mary to discuss their problems and seek consolation. This play, supervised by Sister Mary Armelia, set forth a stirring example to the student body, that they too, should go to the Blessed Mother for condolence.

"Christmas Joy" prevailed in the hearts of Lourdes' faculty and students as Sister Armelia's Latin Club presented its annual Yule program on December 21, 1961.

The spirit of giving to those less fortunate than we evidenced itself as each student generously donated gifts to the Christ Child to be distributed to orphans.

The program continued with the presentation "At the Feet of the Madonna," a delightful Christmas play by the Latin Club.

Climaxing an inspirational afternoon was the singing of Christmas carols by the entire student body. All hearts and minds were immediately turned to the Infant Jesus whose birthday is so eminently celebrated. A feeling of peace and good will reigned towards all men. Everyone, either by words or actions, endeavored to express the greeting held in his heart,"Happy Birthday, Infant Jesus."

"Christmas peace and Christmas blessings in our hearts on earth below," is the message given by the Verse Choir in the Christmas Play. If heeded, the spirit of "keeping Christ in Christmas" will fill the hearts of men.

Madonna

Peter Bogetti, Michael Skopatz, and Robert Rosini sing "Silent Night." This freshmen trio performs beautifully for the enjoyment of the entire student body.

The Glee Club, directed by Sister Margaret Anthony, adds a musical touch to the play by singing a selection of Christmas Carols.

The boys of the Freshmen Glee Club raise their masculine voices as the singing choir in the annual Christmas Play. These young fellows willingly spend their time after school for practice.

Oriental Enchantment

Radiating happy expressions, these seniors enter the Oriental festivities of the annual Junior-Senior Prom. This gala occasion is a night awaited by all with ecstatic anticipation.

F. Garrigan, M. D'Angelo, D. Bogetti, and J. Durdock welcome Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mulhall and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Benkovic into the "Tea Room" for refreshments consisting of fortune cookies and an exotic Japanese beverage.

Cherry blossoms and luminous lanterns add to the color and gaiety of an evening of dancing. These plus a happy couple, are the ingredients for a night of fascinating moments and golden memories.

The strains of "Sayonara" affect the hearts of many, for it is the last song of a memorable and cherished evening. The Prom is over but the memory will always linger on.

Having walked through a threshold of beaded curtains, these merry-makers decide to rest in the gaily decorated "Tea Room" to discuss the highlights of an exciting evening.

Confuscious says: "One who spreads happiness, never grows old." And indeed, happiness was spread by the diligent work of the juniors who transformed the high school gymnatorium into a magnificent orient.

Even the splendor of the shiny beaded curtains and the delicate pink blossoms, could not compare to the happiness which beamed from the faces of the young men and women who visited this mysterious Shangri-la.

The hours were danced away to the soothing music of Frank Rovito and his orchestra, who were located in an oriental setting.

The magical hour of twelve o'clock ended the evening but the remembrance of beautiful gowns, fascinating decorations and a night of fun spent with their favorite partners, will be a long-lasting memory in years to come.

Now that our high school years are terminating, we experience moments of reflection on the countless blessings these years have meant for us. We have matured intellectually and spiritually; we are more deeply aware of our strength, yet acknowledge humbly our weaknesses. We are beginning to understand the meaning of life and challenge it well fortified.

We have beside us friends: schoolmates who have shared our aspirations and have encouraged us in our desires; teachers who have helped us to realize our potentialities and to develop our own particular talents; priests who have answered our problems and guided us through these difficult years; Our Lady, whose loving presence has been felt since the first day we paused wonderingly to breathe a simple prayer for direction, and whose "LOVING SUBJECTS" we wish to remain "THROUGH-THE YEARS . . . "

HONOR STUDENTS

EDWARD M. ROGINSKI

Four years of perseverance of both mind and will have merited for these students special recognition in scholastic endeavor. Their efforts to acquire knowledge that they may meet well-equipped the challenge of today's demanding world have been crowned with success here at Lourdes. May the future hold for them continued reward for all their undertakings.

reflecting Her

Beyond mere scholastic achievement, however, is the spirit of a true Christian education which these young men and women must reflect before the eyes of their fellowmen. Through life they will live the lessons learned spiritually from their Mother-teacher, Our Lady of Lourdes. May she, in turn, bestow her richest smile of blessing on these – HER SUBJECTS.

In Memoriam

RALPH MIRACK
1944-1960

Ralph was my friend, your friend, everyone's friend. His spurts of humor made all of us laugh and happily Ralph laughed with all of us. He generously helped his fellow classmates and listened kindly to everyone's problems.

In the music line Ralph enjoyed the classics. How many times he hopefully tried to convince us of their worth!

The center of attraction to his classmates, Ralph wielded a powerful influence not only upon us but also upon those who were upperclassmen.

Entering our Junior year, we were deeply saddened by the knowledge that Ralph was the victim of a ravaging and torturous disease – Leukemia – which soon claimed his life.

Now, at graduation, as we seniors take with us the remembrances of our high school days, we fondly and prayerfully recall our friend, Ralph Mirack.

Our life, our sweetness and our hope

Hail, Holy Queen enthroned above. We your devoted children have chosen to be your subjects forever. Assist us in every undertaking. Guide us that we may never stray from your loving Son. Immaculate Mary! help us to be pure in all our thoughts, words and deeds. Mother of our Saviour! Intercede for us that we may enjoy the glory of Heaven. You, who are all fair, O Mary, reign over us as our loving Queen.
